

WOMB TRAUMA:

Did you ever wonder if you have womb trauma? As a fetus is developing in her mother, she absorbs her mother's energy and emotions as well as physical nutrients. Since we are energy beings, anything, and everything a mother is experiencing during her pregnancy is absorbed by her fetus. If she is depressed or anxious, her developing fetus has a strong likelihood of absorbing and displaying these same symptoms as a child and an adult if not healed. The best way to heal unhealthy symptoms absorbed in utero is to energetically clear them. This is what I do and it can be done at any point, as a child or as an adult... however, the sooner the better. Anxiety, depression, and trauma create limitation and keep individuals in a state of upset instead of empowered, living a life of joy and being on purpose.

I clear womb trauma for clients who need it. If a client has experienced chronic anxiety and/or depression for most of their lives with nothing they have tried seeming to help, I inquire as to what was going on with their mother while she was carrying them. As a metaphysician and intuitive counselor, I tune in to a higher level of information... what one might call a psychic investigator. By doing this, I am able to clarify the core issue/issues underlying the symptoms and heal them. I do all of my work remotely, with clients and their families all over the world.

Womb Trauma Testimonial.

My family has been working with Ellie for over 3 years. During this time we have welcomed 2 more baby boys to our family. The addition of our third boy, was a rough transition for our 2-year-old. He has always had a very loud, sassy personality, however as time passed, I found he was always often Angry, screaming, hard to talk to, extremely strong willed and just plain hard to parent! As the mother of 3 boys, I chalked this up to the difficulty he was having becoming a big brother, his age in general (terrible twos!) and often felt a lot of guilt for not being able to give him my full attention as I had been able to before the birth of our 3rd boy. After trying what seemed like a million and one different parenting techniques to no avail, and being totally at my wits end, I gave Ellie a call and I'm glad I did.

Before Ellie conducted a remote session with my 2-year-old Tucker she works with a photograph), she reached out to me, and asked what my relationship with my husband was like while I was pregnant with my 2-year-old. At that moment, I had an instant OH NO moment. It was not good at that time, and I thought back to a specific night, when my husband and I were fighting, and I could feel my unborn baby acting strangely erratic. Ellie works on a highly intuitive level and shared with me that my 2 year old Tucker experienced trauma during my pregnancy. She said that the trauma he experienced in the womb from my stress with his father was a large cause of his upset and the behavioral issues we were experiencing. I live in Nebraska and Ellie lives in MA. After just a few sessions with Ellie, my little boy is funny, calm and attentive! Using a photo I had sent her, Ellie was able to remotely heal the trauma Tucker experienced while I was carrying him.

He is no longer loud, unless he is loudly laughing and having fun sharing with his older brother; he is calm and doesn't have random anger outbursts and emotional meltdowns. He is now able to listen and absorb information in a calm, productive way (instead of acting out, hitting, and screaming like before.)

Before Ellie worked with Tucker, he would fight for my attention, but now his whole attitude has changed, and he has become super helpful. In fact, the other day he was running down the hall getting a bottle for his baby brother Archer who was hungry calling, 'It's okay honey, the bottle is coming!'

I can't thank Ellie enough for healing Tucker's "womb trauma" and I am so amazed she can get these results long distance!

~ Morgan Y., Nebraska

Ellie Pechet, M.Ed., Metaphysician, Remote Healer, Shaman, Author

www.PhoenixRisingHealing.com ellie@phoenixrisinghealing.com